

How do I find a systematic review in The Cochrane Library?

Step One: Select The Cochrane Library as interface of interest.

Step Two: For a simple search, insert topic(s) into search form found in left corner of homepage. Select appropriate limiters from upper, pull-down menu.

Step Three: On the succeeding page, systematic reviews will be noted with a blue, review icon. Select a title of interest to view the document.

Step Four: The next page shows the database record for the systematic review. From the roster of PDF choices, select “Summary” for a plain, language version. Select the “Full” option to view, save, or print the file.
